FARM CREDIT ADMINISTRATION

12 CFR Part 620

RIN 3052-AD37

District Financial Reporting

AGENCY: Farm Credit Administration.

ACTION: Proposed rule.

SUMMARY: The Farm Credit Administration (FCA, we, or our) proposes amending the regulation governing how a Farm Credit bank presents information on its related associations when preparing annual bank financial statements on a stand-alone basis. We propose to provide an additional presentation option that would allow the related association financial information to be in a supplement.

SUPPLEMENTARY INFORMATION:

I. Objective

The objective of the proposed rule is to improve shareholder access to district financial information by providing an additional method of presenting financial information on a bank's related associations to those banks preparing annual financial statements on a stand-alone basis.

II. Background

FCA regulation § 620.2(g) currently provides a Farm Credit bank with two alternatives for reporting information on its related associations within the bank's Annual Report to Shareholders. The first alternative, located in § 620.2(g)(1), allows each bank to issue a combined or consolidated report on the Farm Credit bank and its related associations. This presentation requires using a footnote disclosure that summarizes the bank's "stand-alone" balance sheet and income statement. The second alternative, located in § 620.2(g)(2), allows issuance of a bank's annual financial statements on a stand-alone basis, where limited financial information on the bank's related associations is placed in a footnote. This footnoted information may be unaudited but must include a condensed statement of condition and statement of income for the related associations. The § 620.2(g)(2) alternative was primarily added to the regulation in recognition of the creation of the Agricultural Credit Bank (ACB).¹ There is only one ACB in the System and it has both association stockholders and cooperative entity stockholders, requiring special consideration in reporting presentations to ensure the two groups of stockholders understand the information being disclosed.

When adding the § 620.2(g)(2) alternative in 1997, FCA explained that because both methods of presenting combined bank and related association financial information were consistent with Generally Accepted Accounting Principles (GAAP) provisions at the time, FCA made both alternatives available to all the banks.² However, whichever presentation is used, it must both comply with GAAP and provide the most meaningful disclosure to shareholders. Thus, each year Farm Credit banks may select from either reporting presentation when issuing their annual reports as long as it complies with GAAP and serves to provide the most meaningful disclosure to bank shareholders.

In November 2018, all four of the Farm Credit banks jointly requested that FCA amend § 620.2(g)(2) by allowing disclosure of related association financial information in a separate supplement to a bank's Annual Report to Shareholders instead of through use of a footnote within the annual report. We evaluated the merits of the banks' request and concluded permitting use of a supplement instead of a footnote in a bank's Annual Report to Shareholders could be beneficial so initiated this rulemaking. Nothing in this proposed rulemaking affects quarterly reporting requirements.

III. Section-by-Section Analysis

FCA has consistently stated that the relationship between a bank and its related associations is an important one that warrants discussion in the financial statements and reports provided by the banks. Further, we believe that a bank's shareholders need financial information not just on the bank but also on the bank's related associations to properly evaluate the operations and financial position of the district which the bank funds.

A. Use of a Supplement When Issuing Bank-Only Annual Financial Statements

We propose revising § 620.2(g)(2) to allow a Farm Credit bank to use either a footnote or a supplement to provide financial information on its related associations when preparing the bank's annual financial statements on a stand-alone basis. Specifically, we propose adding regulatory language to § 620.2(g)(2) that would allow Farm Credit banks issuing the bank's financial statements on a stand-alone basis within its Annual Report to Shareholders to provide financial information on their related associations either through footnote or a supplement if such a presentation is both allowable under GAAP and serves as the most meaningful disclosure presentation for the bank's shareholders. We believe permitting use of a supplement could facilitate shareholders locating and understanding district information. However, to preserve flexibility in how the annual report of a bank is presented, we are not proposing to remove the existing method of reporting information on a bank's related associations within a footnote.

As proposed, all information provided through use of either a footnote or a supplement would still be considered part of the bank's annual report and therefore subject to the same accuracy, distribution, and internal control requirements of the annual report itself. We are proposing language specifying this to ensure the use of a supplement is not considered a separate, financial report. Further, we are specifically proposing that if a supplement presentation is used, it be distributed along with the bank's annual report. We do not believe allowing separate distribution of the supplement would achieve the stated purpose of facilitating shareholder comprehension of the financial condition of the bank and its district operations, including those of its related associations. All the financial information needs to be available to shareholders at the same time to accomplish that goal. Also, we believe the proposed requirement to have the supplement distributed along with the annual report information that it addresses will have little financial consequence to the bank's annual report distribution costs. A Farm Credit bank using the § 620.2(g)(2) presentation method is allowed under FCA regulation § 620.4(b)(1) to distribute its annual report exclusively through website postings, absent a significant event posing a material effect on the bank's related associations.³

We also propose that if a supplement is used that the supplement be referenced within the body of the bank's annual report. We propose requiring a reference to the supplement within the annual report to ensure shareholders know where the additional information is available. We believe this proposed requirement is in keeping with recognizing the supplement is a part of the annual report and, just as the report would direct the reader to a footnote or appendix, it should direct the reader to the supplement.

B. Reporting District Information When Issuing Bank-Only Annual Financial Statements

We propose adding language to § 620.2(g)(2) that the summary financial information on associations included as part of the bank's annual report be presented on a combined basis with the bank's information. FCA believes that shareholder and investors use the combined financial information to evaluate the operations and financial position of the district. Proposed changes to § 620.2(g)(2) would facilitate this use by requiring combined financial information of each bank and its related associations. Although the supplemental district information required by § 620.2(g)(2) is not a full set of financial statements, we believe the proposed condensed statements will provide information that is meaningful to stakeholders and investors, without providing the extensive detail captured in the Systemwide audited reports.

We are also proposing language to clarify that the current § 620.2(g)(2) option for banks to issue the related associations' financial information on an unaudited basis extends to all the financial information provided for the related associations, whether in a footnote or the proposed supplement. Currently, some may believe only the condensed statements of income and condition named in the rule text may be unaudited. It is our intent that the proposed language removes any perceived ambiguities in the existing rule text of § 620.2(g)(2) regarding which information may be unaudited. This clarification would not affect the existing requirement that the footnote or the proposed supplement disclose the basis of presentation if different from the presentation of the bank-only annual financial statements.

³ See 66 FR 14299, dated March 12, 2001.

Additionally, we propose amending the § 620.2(g)(2) regulatory text to emphasize that the financial information provided by a bank on its related associations (when preparing annual bank financial statements on a stand-alone basis) is not limited to the named condensed statements of income and condition. We propose this change because we believe additional information is, and should be, provided as part of the bank's annual report. Examples of district information that we would expect to see in either the footnote or proposed supplement of a bank's annual report include, but are not limited to, the following:

- The nature of business relationships between System entities within the bank's district;
- Summary of District financial information for the preceding three years;
- Summary of district loan portfolio, discussing concentration risks and significant changes in credit quality, nonperforming assets, past due loans, loan loss allowance and reserves, and loan aging analysis within the district as compared to previous years.
- A description of combined association investments;
- Districtwide capital levels and regulatory ratios;
- Summary of key districtwide income statement line items and profitability measures; and
- A description of any qualified and nonqualified districtwide defined pension plan(s), including each plan's current funding status, accrued benefit obligation and projected benefit obligation, and key actuarial assumptions.

We believe the proposed change, along with the above list of items, will provide meaningful transparency on the financial condition of each Farm Credit District.

IV. Regulatory Flexibility Act

Pursuant to section 605(b) of the Regulatory Flexibility Act (5 U.S.C. 601 et seq.), FCA hereby certifies that the proposed rule would not have a significant economic impact on a substantial number of small entities. Each of the banks in the System, considered together with its related associations, has assets and annual income in excess of the amounts that would qualify them as small entities. Therefore, System institutions are not "small entities" as defined in the Regulatory Flexibility Act.

(1) Any Farm Credit institution that presents its annual and quarterly financial statements on a combined or consolidated basis shall also include in the report the statement of condition and statement of income of the institution on a stand-alone basis. The combined bank and association financial information may either be in the footnotes of the bank's annual report or located in a supplement to the report. All combined information provided through either a footnote or a supplement will be considered part of the bank's annual report, subject to the same annual report preparation, distribution, and accuracy requirements of part 620.

of presentation if different from accounting policies used for the bank-only financial statements.

(ii) If the combined bank and association financial information is presented in the form of a supplement, the supplement must be referenced within the bank's annual report and accompany the annual report when distributed.
